1. Purpose	Purpose The school district wishes to prevent opiate-related overdose deaths by making naloxone available in its secondary schools. Naloxone is a medication found to reverse the effects of an opiate-related drug overdose. Consistent with Pennsylvania law, the school district wishes to obtain authorization for school personnel to administer naloxone in order to respond to suspected drug overdose occurring in secondary schools.

3. Definitions	Definitions For purposes of this policy, these terms shall be defined as follows: Drug overdose – an acute medical condition, including, but not limited to, severe physical illness, coma, mania, hysteria or death, which is the result of a consumption or use of one or more opiate-related controlled substances causing an adverse reaction. An individual's condition shall be deemed a suspected drug overdose if a prudent person, possessing an average knowledge of medicine and health, would reasonably believe that the condition is a drug overdose and requires immediate medical attention. Emergency medical services personnel - individuals whose official or assigned responsibilities include performing or directly supporting the performance of emergency medical and rescue services or firefighting. [1] Naloxone – a medication that can reverse a drug overdose caused by an opiate-related controlled substance. Secondary student – a student enrolled in either the school district’s middle school or high school.

2. Guidelines	Guidelines School Physician’s Standing Order The school district’s Superintendent or designee shall obtain a standing medical order from the school district’s Physician, pursuant to Act 139 of 2014, that prescribes naloxone for use by authorized school personnel to assist any individuals suspected of experiencing a drug overdose in the school district’s secondary schools.[2] The standing order shall authorize the school district to obtain, store and administer naloxone in compliance with this policy, and impose any other conditions that the school district’s Physician believes is appropriate to ensure the safety and well-being of an individual experiencing a drug overdose. The original standing order shall be maintained in the Superintendent’s office, and copies of the standing order shall be kept in the nurse’s offices of each secondary school. Training Before any school district employee may administer naloxone under this policy, the employee must successfully complete an online Pennsylvania Department of Health training program about recognizing opioid-related overdoses, administering naloxone and promptly seeking medical attention for drug overdoses. Evidence that such training has been completed shall be placed in the employee’s personnel file.[2] The school district shall provide its middle and high school nurses, and other relevant school personnel, with the opportunity to complete such online training during their regular work schedule. A list of school district employees who successfully completed such training shall be maintained, updated and kept in the school nurse’s office and the school district administration office. Storage of Naloxone Naloxone shall be safely stored in the school nurses’ office at the middle school and high school in compliance with drug manufacturer’s instructions. Naloxone shall be made readily accessible to those employees who have completed the required training to administer it in the event of suspected drug overdose. All properly trained employees shall be made aware exactly where naloxone is being stored within the school nurses’ office. Administration of Naloxone These protocols shall be followed when administering naloxone to respond to a suspected drug overdose:
